Dear Reader,

Reflecting on these past two years is not an easy task. In July of 2018 we learned that the make-up of the Supreme Court was changing, and as a result, the stability of Roe v. Wade was at risk. Abortion funders have always known that Roe is an incomplete promise, leaving abortion out of reach for the 200,000+ people who call our help-lines each year. Still we recognized that the ground was shifting and began forming a plan to ensure that no one seeking abortion would be left behind. Nearly a year later, a wave of the most restrictive abortion bans in the country swept through the South, signaling an escalating trend. Our opposition was readying themselves, too. Abortion funds knew, as we have always known, that this was not the time for playing defense or ceding moral and narrative ground. This network leads with heart and values. And so, with members, NNAF laid the groundwork for enacting a vision for abortion funding that centers people who want and need abortions to have their needs met fully, no matter what. We knew that trusting and investing in the wisdom of local abortion funds would be the path toward this vision.

ABORTION FUNDS KNEW, AS WE HAVE ALWAYS KNOWN, THAT THIS WAS NOT THE TIME FOR PLAYING DEFENSE
OR CEDING MORAL AND NARRATIVE GROUND.
THIS NETWORK LEADS WITH HEART AND VALUES.

The story of the last two years is a story of growth. Abortion funds are expanding budgets, hiring paid staff, investing in infrastructure, and deepening their connections to each other and their local communities to meet the rising challenges. Abortion funds and NNAF are also working in tandem as a leaderful network to grow our individual membership base. NNAF is increasing our own staffing to bolster our capacity to support member funds on this growth trajectory, and we are resourcing abortion funds at higher and higher levels each year – including launching the Collective Power Fund and moving $1 million in direct abortion funding support to the network.

But just as important as this lateral growth is the trust-building work we've done with each other, tending not only to what grows from the surface, but what comprises the earth of our network. Together we deepened our values exploration, our relationships, our collaboration, and our care. We built regional strategy through collaboratively designed regional convenings, setting the stage for us to better support callers and build power together. We deepened our movement building analysis through political education and organizing strategy sessions. At every step of the way, as we broadened our work, we deepened our relationships with each other. This rhythm allowed us to move forward stronger and in greater alignment with each other.

And so when 2020 arrived – bringing with it the greatest confluence of crises in public health, economic and social welfare, and racial injustices in recent memory – we remained guided by shared purpose, driven by values, and strengthened by our collective power. We pivoted, we held each other through fear and grief, and we mobilized urgent funding and logistical support for each other and for people facing even more barriers to accessing abortion.

Fiscal Year (FY) 2019 and FY 2020 brought challenges we could not have predicted and, while a new administration brings some promise, we are still navigating the treacherous waters of white supremacy, pandemic life, and increasing threats to abortion access. The 2020 pandemic prevented our bi-annual summit, critical time for skill- and network- building. We are painfully aware of the loss of that time and connection with each other. We know the enormity of the work we have ahead of us and the ground we need to make up. However, we remain fortified by our resilience, strength, and commitment to each other. Abortion funds long ago figured out that we need each other. Through mutual aid, we take care of one another and work to change our political conditions together. We are grateful to be in community with you and to share the story of how we have grown together over these last two years.

In solidarity,

Yamani Hernandez
Executive Director

WHAT WE PRACTICE AT THE SMALL SCALE SETS THE PATTERNS FOR THE WHOLE SYSTEM.

ADRIENNE MAREE BROWN IN EMERGENT STRATEGY

IN OUR 2017-2020 STRATEGIC PLAN, WE ARTICULATED A MISSION STATEMENT THAT SITUATED OUR WORK WHERE RACIAL, ECONOMIC, AND REPRODUCTIVE JUSTICE MEET, AND NAMED INTERSECTIONALITY, COMPASSION, AUTONOMY, AND COLLECTIVE POWER AS THE NETWORK'S CORE VALUES.

IN THIS TIME PERIOD, WE PRIORITIZED REFLECTING ON WHAT THESE VALUES MEAN TO US AND ON OPERATIONALIZING OUR RELATIONSHIPS TO THEM AS A GUIDING FRAMEWORK FOR THE NETWORK'S VISION AND ACCOUNTABILITY PRACTICES.

Leadership at abortion funds held internal discussions to learn about, assess alignment with, and identify goals and practices to grow themselves and their organizations in their embodiment of network core values. In FY 2019, NNAF staff and board worked with Prentis Hemphill and Kasha Ho of Groundwork Project to do the same. This foundational work deepens trust, strengthens relationships and collaboration, and forges a stronger network culture that supports values-aligned, coordinated action.

The work of transformation and values embodiment is, of course, ongoing, and it requires consistent attention and stewardship.

THIS MAKES POSSIBLE:

ORGANIZATIONAL SYSTEMS AND PRACTICES SHAPED BY OUR VISION

WE OFTEN SAY WE AIM "FOR OUR INSIDES TO MATCH OUR OUTSIDES." IN OUR CURRENT PRACTICE, THIS MEANS:

- > We created a salary chart and compensation philosophy grounded in thriving, equity, and transparency. All positions below the executive levels are set above market (compared to similarly-sized organizations), with the lowest two levels significantly above market.
- > We fund 100% of employee health insurance cost, HSAs at 112% of deductible, and 12 weeks of FMLA fully paid, eligible upon hire date.
- > In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, we reduced our work week, offered additional support for parents and caregivers, and adjusted workloads.
- > All staff are eligible for a 12-week sabbatical at 5 years.
- > Staff in white and non-Black people of color affinity groups offered to create a "bank" of additional sick time for Black staff as a care and solidarity response during racial uprisings for Black lives.
- > We have developed practices – with staff input – to increase transparency and clarity around moves toward sustainable pacing.

AND:

A STRONG, INTERWOVEN NETWORK WITH ABORTION FUNDS UNDERTAKING THEIR OWN TRANSFORMATIONS TO AMPLIFY THEIR IMPACT, ADAPT TO SHIFTING CONDITIONS, AND MOVE PROACTIVELY TOWARD A SHARED VISION.

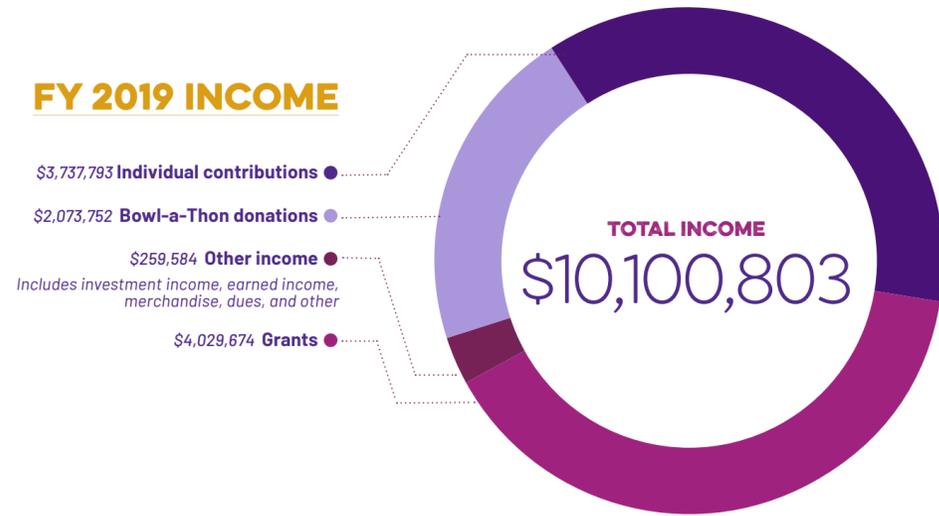

AS ABORTION FUNDS GROW, THEY ARE ALSO ALIGNING THEIR ORGANIZATIONAL PRACTICES AND STRATEGIES WITH THEIR VALUES. SOME EMERGING PRACTICES INCLUDE:

- > Adopting pay transparency and salary bands
- > Providing health insurance
- > Succession-planning for healthy organizational role transitions
- > Changing organizational names in support of gender inclusivity
- > Updating caller intake processes for more compassionate care with an eye toward language accessibility and disability justice
- > Increasing community engagement and ways for callers to provide input for how abortion funds work
- > Organizing supporters to make sense of their own experiences and act in response to the twin pandemics of COVID-19 and state violence, especially considering their disproportionate impact on BIPOC
- > Collaborating with each other and broader support networks to reduce the burden on callers to coordinate their own care
- > Ongoing training and culture change work toward network core values, emphasizing racial and economic justice

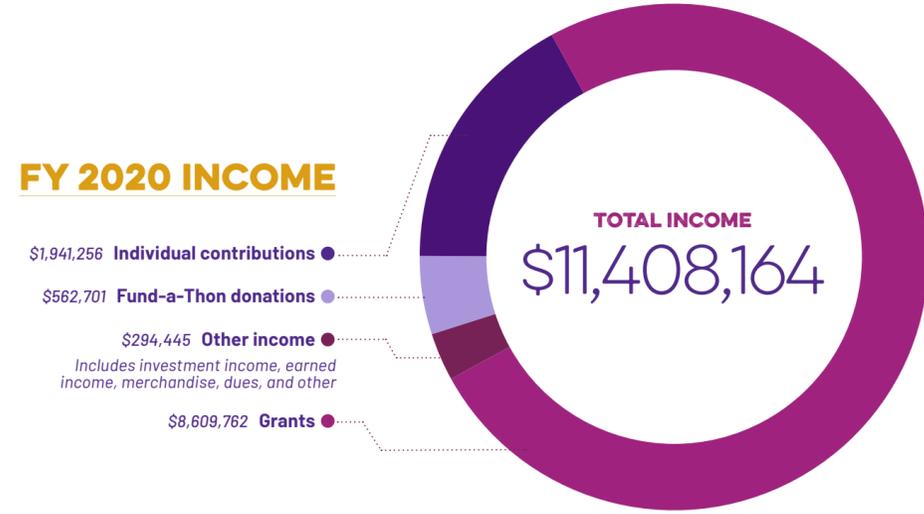

To be clear, while we at NNAF prioritize supporting funds' growth and access to resources, we do not take credit for their efforts. Part of our work is to reflect the full network back to itself. ♥

LOOKING AHEAD

This report tells the story of the National Network of Abortion Funds from July 2018 to June 2020. In the process of compiling it, so much more unfolded both within the network and in the political context that shapes our work. We saw the Supreme Court establish an ultraconservative majority, after we mourned the passing of Justice Ginsburg. We saw baseless claims by a dangerous incumbent about a stolen election, leading to an attempted coup by armed white nationalists on the day Congress convened to certify the results of President Biden and Vice President Harris' victory. We saw the Supreme Court reinstate onerous in-person requirements for medication abortion that had been lifted earlier in the pandemic creating life-changing access in a time of heightened insecurity.

We saw funds' leadership prove critical. Abortion funds long ago figured out that we need each other to survive. Abortion funds take care of callers and each other, and they work to change political conditions together, rejecting paternalistic charity models. They center the experience of people who have had abortions. They know that people need holistic support — logistical, emotional, and monetary — to take the hassle & hustle out of healthcare. The pandemic has taught us how important hyperlocal pods of support are. Whether the need is cash, food, shelter, or healthcare, it's who or what is closest to us that we most rely on.

WHETHER THE NEED IS CASH, FOOD, SHELTER, OR HEALTHCARE, IT'S WHO OR WHAT IS CLOSEST TO US THAT WE MOST RELY ON.

We also saw, following the uprisings for Black lives after the police killings of Breonna Taylor, George Floyd, Tony McDade, Walter Wallace Jr., and too many others, a radical transformation in the way policing and punishment are called to account and a wider opening for abolitionist solutions than many of us had ever felt was possible. In the tradition of the long histories and deep presence of grassroots organizing that brought us here, we recognize that connecting the dots between defunding the police, abolishing ICE, and ending the criminalization of reproductive autonomy is more important now than ever.

In the coming years, you can look forward to us:

- ▶ Being unrelenting in our pursuit to radically resource abortion funds and to radically trust callers. Starting with a five-fund pilot in the Mid-Atlantic and Southern regions, we will be rolling out plans to strengthen the infrastructure of abortion funds, deepen coordination among them, and create a streamlined system in which, with one call, a person trying to access abortion can receive a pledge to have their needs met fully. Read more about this in our Fall 2020 newsletter.
- ▶ Supporting intersectional agendas. We will be meeting any new restrictions to abortion access head-on and connecting dots among racial justice, reproductive autonomy, economic and worker justice, abolition, and climate justice without compromise.
- ▶ Deepening our racial justice and values embodiment to ensure that this network as a whole is anti-racist and centers the power of Black, Indigenous and people of color. Along with ongoing infrastructural and relational work, we will prioritize strengthening political analyses in the network, focusing on racial justice as a through-line for grounding our strategy and action around abortion access. This is deeply intertwined with our goals for abolition, economic justice, resource redistribution, and mutual aid.
- ▶ Strengthening our connection and support with member funds to weather change ahead. In 2022 NNAF will change leadership and as abortion funds scale amidst increasingly hostile conditions, we want to tighten systems of communication and technical assistance across operations, communications, organizing and more. ♥
